Journals of Foundation of Computer Science (FCS) regularly solicits original and research-oriented papers from research communities. The process is regulated by the affiliated university boards and follows international standards of publication. Each journal of Foundation of Computer Science maintains its individual digital libraries which are available for public usage. Important messages such as "Call for Paper" announcements are displayed on respective journal digital libraries. International Journal of Computer Applications (IJCA)

The International Journal of Computer Applications (ISSN: 0975-8887) is a prominent journal having an impact factor of 0.821. Impact factor is derived from the consolidated data received via Google Scholar, DOAJ and ProQuest survey under the purview of University of St. Gallen.

Call for paper

International Journal of Applied Information Systems (IJAIS)

International Journal of Applied Information Systems (ISSN: 2249-0868) is a niche journal with university-backed distribution network. It publishes original papers in applied, experimental and theoretical aspects of information systems.

Call for paper

Communications on Applied Electronics (CAE)

The Communications on Applied Electronics (ISSN: 2394-4714) in association with indexing partners publishes original papers in applied, experimental and theoretical aspects of Electronics and Communications.

Call for paper